1888 Press Release - High purity products based on cutting edge scientific research now being distributed worldwide.

The Longevity Revolution™ has announced the introduction of custom longevity formula capsules for practitioners and resellers worldwide.

The Longevity Revolution™ has, for many years, been supplying cutting edge , scientifically researched, longevity products to University research departments and it's own co-researcher members and resellers.

Now, with the increase in mainstream practitioner's awareness of orthomolecular science and the scientifically researched benefits of non pharmaceutical, non toxic, natural dietary supplements derived from that science, there is an exponential growth in demand for informed private practitioners to have their own branded products.

The new initiative allows their registered resellers to have their own formula and own brand from as little as only 200 bottles at competitive prices. The Longevity Revolution™ offers a choice of scientifically researched ingredients which can be custom mixed to the choice of the reseller.

Besides the custom formulas, their dealers website at www.21stcenturyalternatives.com/ocart/resellers offers their registered resellers a range of cutting edge supplements and new cellular support products based on longevity ingredients and peptides . These are available at dealer prices in small quantities from 12 mixed items upwards.

All products are made from high purity ingredients, amino acids or longevity peptides and no fillers or excipients are used.

The history of the new scientific paradigm stretches back many decades and can be referenced at www.thelongevityrevolution.tv

Buyers of the custom formulas will get the dealer registration fee refunded in full with their first order together with a free credit of £100 which is offered to all new dealer registrants.
